Investment Policy

The healthcare sector is global and accessing this market as a UK investor can be difficult. The Company offers an opportunity to gain exposure to pharmaceutical, biotechnology and related companies in the healthcare sector on a global scale. The Company invests in large companies with market capitalisations of over U.S.$10bn, smaller companies below that size, as well as unquoted companies. The portfolio ranges from large multinational pharmaceutical companies with multiple products to unquoted emerging biotechnology companies. The Company's investment policy allows gearing, through borrowing, of up to 20% of net assets and a net exposure to derivative investments (excluding swaps) of up to 5% of the portfolio. Equity swaps may also be used, counterparty exposure here is limited to 12% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition. Unquoted securities will not exceed 10% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition.

Commentary

In May, the NAV per share total return was down 4.6%, the share price total return was down 4.8% and the MSCI World Health Care Index was up 0.2%, on a net total return, sterling adjusted basis.

Equity markets in May continued to grapple with major overhangs that have so far characterized trading in 2022, namely inflation, monetary tightening, and rising interest rates. The result was a roller coaster month with early stock market declines and a late month rally which resulted in essentially flat performance across major indices, including Healthcare. However, a notable exception was biotechnology, with small/mid-cap stocks experiencing another fall that did not recover into the month end (the XBI was down over 7% in sterling terms in May).

The top contributor in the month was Pfizer. The company reported better than expected first quarter revenues and earnings in early May and followed up with an astute acquisition of the neurology company, Biohaven Pharmaceutical, giving Pfizer a commercial blockbuster drug for the treatment of migraine headaches. Rising COVID-19 infections in the U.S. may have also contributed to a share price tail wind, given Pfizer's leading position in both vaccines and anti-viral treatments. Share price momentum continued for the Hong Kong-listed medical device maker, Shanghai Bio-Heart Biological Technology. The company's share price has now tripled (in sterling terms) since the late 2021 IPO. Finally, we note a contributor of import was Turning Point Therapeutics. The small/mid-cap oncology company was acquired for $4.1 billion, a >120% premium, by Bristol-Myers Squibb as the company expands its large footprint of novel cancer treatments.

The largest detractor in May was from positioning within biotechnology stocks, which contributed to nearly half of the underperformance in the month. This was exacerbated by Roche whose shares fell after a disappointing update for their novel lung cancer drug candidate from the "TIGIT" class which failed to show meaningful efficacy after an interim analysis. Shares in the diagnostics company, Guardant Health, also fell after the company announced delays to their much anticipated "ECLIPSE" trial, pushing the read-out of this large-scale, liquid biopsy colorectal cancer screening study into year-end.

Looking ahead, we are encouraged by the acquisition activity we observed in the past two months, with several multibillion-dollar deals being consummated. We expect this trend to continue, if not accelerate, given the historic sell-off we have witnessed over the past 16 months that has decimated the valuations of the small/mid-cap biotechnology sector, creating incredible bargains that have not been seen before.

Discount / Premium Control Mechanism

The Directors have adopted an active discount management policy through the use of share buybacks, with a view to limiting the discount to the cum income NAV per share at which the shares trade to no more than 6%. It should be noted, however, that it remains possible for the share price discount to the cum income NAV per share to be greater than 6% on any day. Shares bought back may be held in treasury for reissue at later dates at a premium to the prevailing cum income net asset value per share. Any shares left in treasury are cancelled around the time of the AGM. In order to help prevent the share price trading at a significant premium to the NAV per share, the Company has the ability to issue new shares at a 0.7% premium to the cum income NAV per share.

Risk Warnings

This document is for information purposes only and does not constitute an offer or invitation to purchase shares in the Company and has not been prepared in connection with any such offer or invitation. Before investing in the Company, or any other investment product, you should satisfy yourself as to its suitability and the risks involved, and you may wish to consult a financial adviser.

Any return you receive depends on future market performance and is uncertain. The Company does not seek any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment. For information on the principal risks the Company is exposed to please refer to the Company's Annual Report or Investor Disclosure Document available at www.worldwidewh.com.

Shares in the Company are bought and sold on the London Stock Exchange. The price you pay or receive, like other listed shares, is determined by supply and demand and may be at a discount or premium to the underlying net asset value of the Company. Usually, at any given time, the price you pay for a share will be higher than the price you could sell it.

The Company has increased its exposure to investments via the use of an overdraft facility and derivatives, and this could potentially magnify any losses or gains made by the Company. The Annual Report and Investor Disclosure Document, available on the Company's website, include further details on the use of, and exposure to, derivatives.
