Investment Policy

The healthcare sector is global and accessing this market as a UK investor can be difficult. The Company offers an opportunity to gain exposure to pharmaceutical, biotechnology and related companies in the healthcare sector on a global scale. The Company invests in large companies with market capitalisations of over U.S.$10bn, smaller companies below that size, as well as unquoted companies. The portfolio ranges from large multi-national pharmaceutical companies with multiple products to unquoted emerging biotechnology companies. The Company's investment policy allows gearing, through borrowing, of up to 20% of net assets and a net exposure to derivative investments (excluding swaps) of up to 5% of the portfolio. Equity swaps may also be used, counterparty exposure here is limited to 12% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition. Unquoted securities will not exceed 10% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition.

Commentary

In March, the NAV per share total return was -4.6%, the share price total return was -6.7% and the MSCI World Health Care Index (Company's Benchmark) was -6.6%, on a net total return, sterling adjusted basis.

Equity markets declined in March after the attacks on Iran from U.S. and Israeli military forces began in earnest on the last day of February and continued through the month. These global tensions triggered broad market weakness and a spike in volatility, with the VIX Index climbing as much as 75% in the first six trading days of March. Market declines were exacerbated by concerns over interest rates, rising oil prices, and signs of economic slowing. Defensive trades that marked January and February unwound, and even defensive stalwarts like healthcare sold off in the month.

With market correlation approaching 1.0, the Company's performance largely mirrored that of the Benchmark over first 21 trading days of March. However, that changed materially on March 31. The announcement of two high profile acquisitions in biotechnology materially altered the trajectory of the Trust's performance at month end.

First, Eli Lilly acquired Centessa Pharmaceuticals for a total consideration of $7.8 billion representing a 70% premium, giving Eli Lilly a suite of neuroscience assets, particularly in sleep disorders. Second, Biogen acquired Apellis Pharmaceuticals for a total consideration of $5.6 billion for a whopping premium of 140%, giving Biogen two commercial assets in the ophthalmology and hematology spaces. The latter announcement had an outsized impact on performance, adding 200 basis points given the outright investment we had in the company. Together, these announcements ignited a rally in biotechnology stocks, including our own proprietary Biotechnology M&A swap basket that experienced a one-day move of nearly +8%, adding 100 basis points to performance.

Overall, the newsflow on the day significantly altered the performance for the month and the fiscal year. The last day of the fiscal year had a one-day return of over +5.5% with an excess return of nearly +4.0%.

Looking ahead, market conditions remain uncertain, with macroeconomic factors continuing to drive short-term volatility across global equities. However, any signals that the conflict in Iran is near a resolution would likely benefit Trust performance. We remain constructive on biotechnology, particularly emerging companies where innovation, clinical progress, and M&A potential continue to create compelling opportunities. Overall, we believe the current environment continues to favor active management and stock selection, particularly within therapeutics, where scientific innovation and corporate activity remain strong drivers of long-term value creation.

DISCOUNT/PREMIUM CONTROL

It is the Board's policy to buy back the Company's shares if the share price discount to the net asset value per share exceeds 6% on an ongoing basis. Shares repurchased are held as treasury shares. Treasury shares can be sold back to the market at a later date at a premium to the cum income net asset value per share. Shareholders should note, however, that it remains possible for the discount to be greater than 6% for extended periods of time, particularly when sentiment towards the Company, the sector and/or to investment trusts generally remains poor.

While buybacks may prove unable to prevent the discount from widening, they also enhance the net asset value per share for remaining shareholders and go some way to dampening discount volatility which can adversely affect investors' risk adjusted returns.

At times when there are unsatisfied buying orders for the Company's shares in the market, the Company has the ability to issue new shares or to re-issue treasury shares at a small premium to the cum income net asset value per share. This acts as an effective share price premium management tool.
